

PROMPTING DURING READING

If the mistake doesn't make sense	If the mistake does make sense	Prompts for accurate reading and self correction
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◇ "You said, '____'. Does that make sense?" ◇ You said, '____'. Look at the pictures and think what would make sense." ◇ "Read it again and think what word would make sense and sound right." 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◇ "You said, '____'. Does that look right?" ◇ "You said, '____'. Reread and get your mouth ready to say the tricky word." ◇ "Read it with your finger and make sure everything matches." 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◇ "Are you right?" ◇ "How do you know?" ◇ "Something's not quite right." ◇ "Can you find the tricky part?" ◇ "Why did you stop?" ◇ "Try that again."

PRAISING AFTER READING

"You did something good readers do"

- ◇ "You pointed to each word as you read."
- ◇ "You stopped when something was wrong."
- ◇ "When you made a mistake you fixed it up all by yourself."
- ◇ "When you came to a word you didn't know you got your mouth ready and checked the picture."
- ◇ "You read with expression."
- ◇ You tried to work it out all by yourself."
